

ENVIRONMENT, SAFETY & TRAINING FOR COMMUNITY GROUPS

Understanding environmental and safety requirements can be challenging. We offer a range of environment, safety and training services to help clients understand relevant legislation and ensure compliance with their obligations. We can also provide advice, reviews and independent assessments should your community or organisation be impacted by major developments, projects or natural resource activities.

We aim to provide helpful and practical advice on environmental and safety issues, including:

- Safety training and awareness packages for people working in remote areas.
- Environmental training and awareness packages for natural resource activities.
- Advice on Government approvals and licences.
- Reviews of major project approvals and guidance on areas for consultation.
- Coaching and mentoring environmental and safety personnel.
- Developing and implementing management systems and procedures to assist contract tendering processes.
- Developing and implementing environmental monitoring activities.
- Assessing waste and water usage to implement cost-saving strategies.
- Dust, pollution and noise assessments and providing suitable management strategies.
